HISTORY

Saulog & De Leon Law Offices was established in Makati City in 1993 by Atty. Alejandro B. Saulog, Jr. and Atty. Dennis C. De Leon. Following the unfortunate passing of Atty. De Leon, Atty. Helen C. De Leon-Manzano joined the firm as a new partner. Despite this change, the founders decided to maintain the firm's name and refocused their efforts on establishing distinct core practice areas. This pivotal moment in the firm's history created a shared vision that continues to define Saulog & De Leon Law Offices today.

The firm now offers comprehensive legal services in eight key areas of practice: Corporate law, Joint Ventures, and Banking; Taxation; Dispute Resolution and Litigation; Labor and Employment; Family Law, Wills, and Estate Planning; Maritime and Admiralty; and Intellectual Property Protection. Saulog & De Leon Law Offices is dedicated to providing top-notch legal services to its clients with the highest levels of professionalism and expertise.

Over the years, Saulog & De Leon Law Offices has experienced significant growth and expansion by efficiently addressing the evolving needs of its clients and the communities it serves. The firm has continuously adapted to the changing legal landscape brought about by new laws, such as the Data Privacy Act of 2012, the Competition Law of 2015, and the 2018 amendments to the 1997 National Internal Revenue Code (TRAIN and CREATE Law) and the Revised Corporation Code.

Saulog & De Leon Law Offices' lawyers have played an integral role in many of its Makati City-based clients' business transactions as the city has emerged as the premier business district in Metro Manila. The firm caters not only to traditional businesses with classic models, but also to startups that employ modern, technology-savvy approaches to doing business.

The firm's labor and employment practice is crucial in assisting its clients with their human resources issues, as it navigates through the increasing complexity of national and local labor laws and regulations.
